

HVAC curbs that are being installed on metal deck creates interior pathways for air intrusion and air exfiltration under the metal deck which could create condensation under the roof.

We should be making sure that our scope sheets include installing a low rise SPF in the flutes (above & below) in order to close off any air pathway.
The installation of the SPF should be prior to the installation of the roofing.